More than 2.2 million Americans have been diagnosed with atrial fibrillation, a serious heart rhythm problem that can lead to heart failure and stroke. In fact, it's estimated that a-fib causes 70,000 strokes each year. What's more, many people who have the condition don't even know it.

Find out about the symptoms and diagnosis, as well as exciting new treatments that can treat and potentially eliminate atrial fibrillation, at this free community event. It features Stephen P. Maniscalco, MD, an expert in the advanced mini-maze procedure to correct atrial fibrillation. In addition you'll hear what you can do to keep your heart healthy from Mellanie True Hills, free from atrial fibrillation after having a mini-maze, who will share the inspirational story of her cure.
